What the feedback tells us

Day 1

We analysed 1,235 pieces of voter feedback. 78% were positive about Sen. Ekpenyong and 22% negative, a net sentiment of +55. The strongest positive driver is grateful for scholarships and empowerment (340 voters); the leading concern is hesitant or undecided (195). Akamkpa is the warmest LGA (81% positive) and Bakassi the coolest (64%). 67 voters were positive but raised a concern in the same breath, the easiest wins to secure.

Negative drivers →

How this was measured. Every feedback note was scored for positive and negative words and phrases, including Nigerian English and Pidgin expressions, with negation handled ("not happy" counts as negative, "not bad" as positive). A note with no opinion words takes its label from the call outcome and is marked low confidence (104 notes). 329 notes only recorded call handling (call back, busy, wrong number) and are not counted.

Recommendations

Day 2

- Answer the main concern. Hesitant or undecided came up 195 times, most in Odiong, Ward 12, Ikot Edem Odo. A visit or a clear message from the Senator's office would speak to it directly.
- Say what voters already say. Build campaign messages around grateful for scholarships and empowerment; it is the reason 340 voters gave for their support.
- Close the mixed calls. Re call the 67 voters who were positive but raised a concern, and tell them how it is being handled.
- Win the hesitant. Senior agents should call back the 195 hesitant or undecided voters first.
- Better notes. 104 notes were too short to judge from their words. Agents should write one full sentence of what the voter actually said.
